Professional Designations

This Summary of Professional Designations is provided to assist you in evaluating the professional designations and minimum requirements of our investment professionals who hold these designations.

CFP®: CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™

A CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ is a professional designation issued by the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. Candidates for the CFP® designation are tested on over 100 topics in the following areas: financial planning, insurance, investment planning and retirement and estate planning. A CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ is qualified to give financial advice and make financial decisions for individuals seeking their expertise. A CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ must participate in continuing education, including ethics training, to maintain his or her certification.

CPA: Certified Public Accountant

CPAs are licensed and regulated by their state boards of accountancy. While state laws and regulations vary, the education, experience and testing requirements for licensure as a CPA generally include minimum college education (typically 150 credit hours with at least a baccalaureate degree and a concentration in accounting), minimum experience levels (most states require at least one year of experience providing services that involve the use of accounting, attest, compilation, management advisory, financial advisory, tax or consulting skills, all of which must be achieved under the supervision of or verification by a CPA), and successful passage of the Uniform CPA Examination. In order to maintain a CPA license, states generally require the completion of 40 hours of continuing professional education (CPE) each year (or 80 hours over a two year period or 120 hours over a three year period). Additionally, all American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) members are required to follow a rigorous Code of Professional Conduct which requires that they act with integrity, objectivity, due care, competence, fully disclose any conflicts of interest (and obtain client consent if a conflict exists), maintain client confidentiality, disclose to the client any commission or referral fees, and serve the public interest when providing financial services.

PFS: Personal Financial Specialist

The PFS credential demonstrates that an individual has met the minimum education, experience and testing required of a CPA in addition to a minimum level of expertise in personal financial planning. To attain the PFS credential, a candidate must hold an unrevoked CPA license, certificate, or permit, none of which are in inactive status; fulfill 3,000 hours of personal financial planning business experience; complete 75 hours of personal financial planning CPE credits; pass a comprehensive financial planning exam and be an active member of the AICPA. A PFS credential holder is required to adhere to AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct and the Statement on Standards in Personal Financial Planning Services, when providing personal financial planning services. To maintain their PFS credential, the recipient must complete 60 hours of financial planning CPE credits every three years. The PFS credential is administered through the AICPA.

CFA: Chartered Financial Analyst

The CFA® charter is a credential awarded by the CFA Institute to individuals who meet its education, examination, sponsorship, experience and ethics requirements. To earn a CFA® charter, eligible candidates must have four years of qualified investment work experience, become a member of the CFA Institute, adhere to the Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct on an ongoing basis, and complete the CFA® program, which requires the passage of three separate six-hour examinations. Topics tested by the CFA Institute include ethical standards, quantitative methods, economics, financial reporting, corporate finance, equities, fixed income, derivatives, alternative investments, and portfolio management.

CAIA: Chartered Alternative Investment Analyst

The CAIA Charter, recognized globally, is administered by the Chartered Alternative Investment Analyst Association and requires a comprehensive understanding of core and advanced concepts regarding alternative investments, structures, and ethical obligations. To qualify for the CAIA Charter, finance professionals must complete a self-directed, comprehensive course of study on risk-return attributes of institutional quality alternative assets; pass both the Level I and Level II CAIA examinations at global, proctored testing centers; attest annually to the terms of the Member Agreement; and hold a US bachelor's degree (or equivalent) plus have at least one year of professional experience or have four years of professional experience. Professional experience includes full-time employment in a professional capacity within the regulatory, banking, financial, or related fields. Once a qualified candidate completes the CAIA program, he or she may apply for CAIA membership and the right to use the CAIA designation, providing an opportunity to access ongoing educational opportunities.

CISP: Certified IRA Services Professional

The CISP certification is issued by the American Bankers Association's Institute of Certified Bankers. Successful candidates must complete two years of dedicated IRA operational and technical experience plus completion of an educational program, or complete four years of dedicated IRA operational and technical experience. Successful candidates must also pass a final certification examination. Certified IRA Services Professionals must complete 24 credits of continuing education every three years and adhere to the Institute of Certified Banker's Code of Ethics.

Certified Investment Management Analyst® (CIMA®)

The CIMA certification, administered through Investment Management Consultants Association (IMCA), signifies that an individual has met initial and on-going experience, ethical, education, and examination requirements for investment management consulting, including advanced investment management theory and application. Prerequisites for the CIMA certification are three years of financial services experience and an acceptable regulatory history. To obtain the CIMA certification, candidates must pass a Qualification Examination, successfully complete a one-week classroom education program, pass a Certification Examination, and have an acceptable regulatory history. CIMA designees are required to adhere to IMCA's Code of Professional Responsibility, Standards of Practice, and Rules and Guidelines for Use of the Marks. CIMA designees must report 40 hours of continuing education credits, including two ethics hours, every two years to maintain the certification.

Series 65 License:

Series 65 is a securities license issued by the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA) that is administered by FINRA, which allows individuals to serve as investment advisors. Candidates who passed the Series 65 exam were tested on the following areas: laws, regulations, ethics, and investment products.

Series 66 License:

Series 66 is a securities license issued by the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA) that allows an individual the right to register as an investment advisor representative and/or securities agent. Candidates who pass the Series 66 exam also meet the requirements of the Series 63 and 65 exams.

Series 7 License:

The Series 7 is an exam and license that entitles the holder to sell all types of securities products. The bulk of the Series 7 exam focuses on investment risk, taxation, equity and debt instruments, packaged securities, options, retirement plans and interactions with clients.
